Betreff: Force Majeure at Covestro & accident at BASF

Dear Sirs,

during last month's we got different information confirming the limited capabilities to supply MDI & TDI. Recently we have been informed about the "Force Majeure" declaration from one of our suppliers, due to the availability of Nitric Acid. Furthermore, this month is becoming again very critical, as you can read in the attached letter dated October 2016.

To make matters worse the production of the same raw materials at BASF are stopped since the accident this week.

Eurofoam is trying to minimise this impact both in cost due to the increase of raw materials prices that situation is creating, but also the possible delays in the supply chain of our products to customers.

It seems that at this moment the permitted quantities of raw material for October and the beginning of November will be delivered. However, we cannot avoid mentioning possible immediate consequences if the situation continue in days and weeks to come.

We keep you informed about this situation as soon as new information are available.

Thanks in advanced for your understanding in this matter.

Kind regards
